Every new school year,
every day, every hour,
something is changing.
Nothing stays the same,
no matter how much we wish it would. Change is the only constant in our lives. It is how we grow and learn and here at Mars Hill we sometimes overlook the changes that are going on around us.
Mars Hill holds for us changes that seem more profound and distinct because of the rushed lives that we led here thru
our classes, studies,
support of sports,
participation in Greek life and Student Union Board activities. Welcome
CHANGES

Mars Hill . . . The Roman Era.

We'll sneak the boys up in the next load.

This is the cleanest Dad will ever see it.

No, I guess the visitation hours didn't get changed over the summer.

The normally quiet Dr. Bentley is caught here on film mingling at a party. What's in those cups anyway?

The development of pavement drove us to great things at Mars Hill.

Lunch — one thing that never changes.

The fence isn't for my protection — it's for theirs.

When men start wearing skirts the changing has gone too far.

The new cafeteria . . . still changing?

Change implies a fundamental difference or a substitution of one thing for another. Mars Hill seems to be on a road of change at the moment . . .

Options for the meal plan
21, 14, or 7 meals a week.

Expansion of computer systems to every department.

The donation of land to the athletic department.

the new cafeteria.

More improvements on the Loft.

Wednesday activities
sponsored by Student Union Board.

Think of all those subtle changes that have taken place right in front of your eyes and you say nothing changes. Think again!!!!

In comparison to most colleges and universities we would consider Mars Hill College close to the top on the conservative list. However, MHC has come a long way since it's establishment in 1856 in the area of student life. The Mars Hill Quarterly, 1939-40, stated that students had to dress modestly and that parents should monitor how their children dressed. "Borrowing the clothes of others is unhygienic and is forbidden." We can't imagine such a code today; it would mean spending more of our precious quarters washing clothes.

All of us live for that spur of the moment road trip not thinking about asking permission. In 1939 if we wanted to leave campus for any reason our parents had to write directly to the Dean's office.

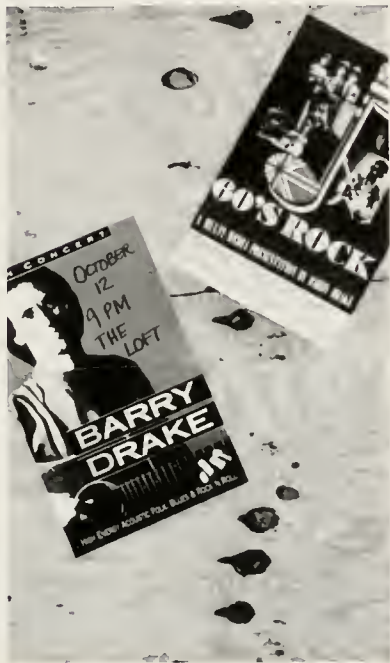

We all enjoy the tunes that flow from our stereos. In 1939, students were only allowed to have small radios with the permission of their parents and the school. After their request was approved they had to pay a $2.50 electrical fee per semester.

Oh no not Rook. Todd did you really "Shoot the Moon"?

Student Union Board sponsored events. The 60's will live forever.

The Mars Hill Homecoming Queen and King: Carol Jo Howell and Peter Alexander.

Members of the '93 Homecoming Court:
Charles Harbeson, Beverly Hughes,
Anthony McCaleb, Sonya Green, Peter
Alexander, Becky Carlton, Dane Heath,
Carol Jo Howell, Mike Jullian, Karl Blair,
James Lyda, Daphne Parker, Ben Peacock,
Lara Lequire.

Brian Huskey presented a musical performance out in front of the cafeteria as part of homecoming.

Though we complain about the availability and convenience of parking on campus, students in 1963 had even greater reasons to complain. In order to have an automobile on campus, students had to turn in an application, have it approved, and pay a $1.00 registration fee, and a $5.00 per semester charge for an assigned space. Even more shocking, these students had to maintain at least a C average. Think of the choice parking spots we might have today if those grades were still enforced.

Another major aspect of student life in the past was the literary societies. These societies create competition, spirit, a form of socialization and a means of forming relationships between male and female students. One night a week, while girls were having study hall in their dorms, the two male societies went one group at a time up womens hill to serenade the ladies. This tribute to the women lasted almost an hour and then the men returned to their dorms to study.

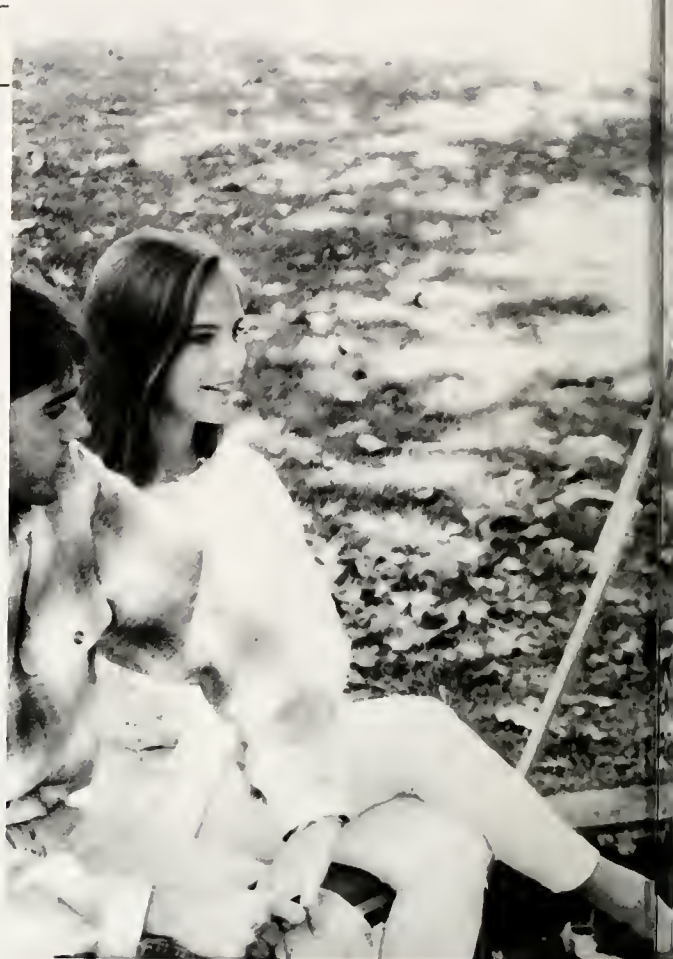

Student Life

Over the years dating has changed at Mars Hill. The isolation, caused by students not having cars on campus, resulted in a family-oriented atmosphere and more centralized dating, coupled in groups. Common dates consisted of going to Saturday night entertainment in the auditorium, eating meals together in the cafeteria, going to the on-campus Tuesday night movie, and most common was going to church together and climbing Bailey Mountain. Dates required little money but a lot of imagination.

We complain about visitation being strict, but it has improved considerably since the Saturday night visitation until 11:00 pm sharp.

Mars Hill has progressed through the years and things are still changing in our student life. Even though changes are not instantaneously nor obvious, they are taking place and will affect us as well as those who follow us in the years to come at this conservative yet not quite so conservative institution of higher learning.

Smile for the artist. As part of Homecoming a character artist came to campus and many students got him to draw them.

Next time I'm goin down feet first.

Eating outside and listening to music is a great way to enjoy one of the last warm days of fall. Shouldn't the fish be in the tank?

Dorm Life in 1949. Has It changed any?

Ha! Ha! The Joke was on you.

These guys sure are enjoying themselves at lunch.

Is It a snowman or a snow bunny?

Some guys have all of the fun. Men never change.

People

Elopement at Mars Hill. Some things can't wait.

This guy is bringing in holiday cheer with a big bell.

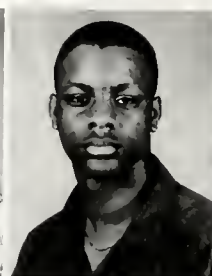

Change isn't always evident especially in the cafeteria.

Exchange students have brought new ideas to Mars Hill over the years.

From participants to spectators, sports are a major aspect of the Mars Hill experience. Changes are being made all around campus, and this includes athletics too! All teams are members of the South Atlantic Conference and now compete in the NCAA Division II. Not only have our challenges changed in our division, our coaching staff has changed. Coach Timothy Clifton, the new head football coach, has made some big changes in the football program, and he is hoping to bring home some victories for Mar Hill. Coach Dodd, who is not new to Mars Hill or baseball, has taken on a new position as the head coach of the baseball team. Chris Smith is not only contributing as the new assistant baseball coach, but he is also the Sports Information Director.

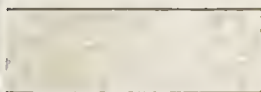

Along with the changes in our coaching staff new faces have been seen playing out on the football and baseball fields and in the gym. Many new transfers and freshmen have come to be a part of Mars Hill athletics. Be it football, basketball, volleyball, or tennis, it is certain that one thing is always changing, the players. Each of the athletes spends a lot of time in preparation for the games. Time and dedication are requirements as well as skill for each athlete's individual sport.

A new addition last year to Mars Hill athletics was the women's soccer team. Coach Bennett and his players have taken on a great challenge in building a new program, and there is no doubt that this venture will be a successful one.

Now what play is it that you think we should do coach? Powder puff was a part of spirit week this year. Someday, girls, we will have our own intramural sport.

Coach Johnson — Men's and Women's Tennis

Coach Dodd — Baseball

Coach Crist — Men's Soccer

Intramural athletics are offered at Mars Hill as well as Intercollegiate athletics. Many students participate in intramurals and have been known to be very competitive. Among the sports offered in intramurals are flag football, soccer, basketball, and volleyball. Intramurals offer those who are unable to play varsity sports a chance to strut their stuff. Many things are changing in Mars Hill athletics, but one thing that has never changed is the competitive spirit of the athletes.

Although new faces and ideas have been roaming the halls of chambers gym, one thing remains the same: dedication and loyalty from the coaches, athletes and fans to make Mars Hill athletics the best they can be.

In track and field Mars Hill was always a leap ahead.

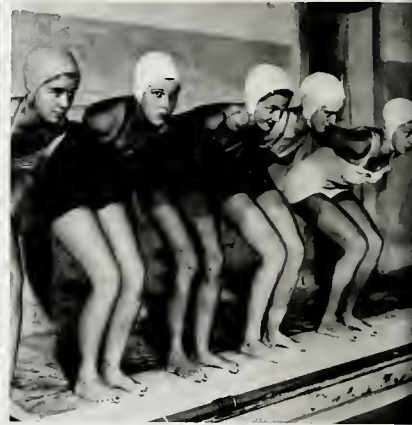

Go Mars Hill! These Mars Hill cheerleaders give it their all for spirit.

This gives "out of the starters' box" a whole new meaning.

Taking the plunge at Mars Hill.

Out of Africa, or Mars Hill, the lions always pose for pictures on the open plain.

The founder of Mars Hill Powder Puff.

Like the common cold, the sprained ankle still has no remedy.

Going for the corner kick, Freshman Brian Moody kicks and hopes for a goal.

Mars Hill has always been above the rest.

Under the leadership of first-year coach Tim Clifton, Mars Hill saw its win total double in the 1993 season with a mark of 4-6.

It was also a season of individual accomplishments for sophomore Ashley Abernathy, who shattered school passing records, and for senior Derrick Sharpe, who established new receiving marks.

The '93 campaign started on a good note when the Lions overcame weather conditions to defeat Tusculum 21-3.

In Mars Hill's homecoming loss to Wingate, the Lions lost Tony Grant for the season due to a knee injury. In that game, Grant injured his knee on the first play of the game but went on to rush for 163 yards before seriously injuring the same knee later in the game.

That signaled an end to Grant's season, and the Lions were left with a big void to fill.

Mars Hill found its backfield answer the following week when

The game plan is . . .

New style, new flair freshman Leon Williams eclipsed the 100-yard mark in the Lions' 22-0 victory over Kentucky State.

Things ended on a good note for the Lions, as they came away with wins of 35-28 over Lenoir-Rhyne and 40-21 over Gardner-Webb.

At the conclusion of the season Sharpe, Abernathy, senior tight end Chris Goodson, defensive backs Benji Frazier and Dennis Spain and senior lineman David Mennitt were selected to the All-South Atlantic Conference team.

As a team the Lions enjoyed their best season ever in terms of completed passes (54.3%) and total yardage (3,890 yards).

The prospects for a strong '94 campaign appear to be very good.

The Cross Country team, headed by Coach Mike Owens and assistant Brad (Speed Racer) Dodson, had a strong head start in their second season at Mars Hill. At the team's first meet, all of the guys improved by one minute or more which showed promise for a strong season. The guys team also did very well at the home race, coming in third over all with two runners placing in the top ten. The conference race also proved to be Running as fast as you can a success for both individuals and the team. David Jordan placed fifth overall and was named first team all-conference. Chris Bennett placed twelfth in the race and was named second team all-conference.

The team should be congratulated for having one or more guys receive all-conference in such a short period of time.

Norm Bove and Jon Mitchel also fared very well and helped the team to a fourth place finish at the meet.

During the latter part of the season, injuries hurt the team's performance due to the fact that there were few races in which the guys had a full team.

The girls team also had a good season but didn't reach their potential because of individual injuries and other obligations. Though they didn't place very well as a team, individual performances by Audrey Funk and Joy Ponder gave them second team South Atlantic Conference. Both teams hope to continue to grow strong during the next year.

Coach Mike Owens gives Norman Bove a little advice.

Running, running. The finish line I can almost see it.

The 1993 MHC college cheerleaders unveiled their new image at the first game of the season. They combined both the coed and women's squad to express a more dynamic effect in support of the Fighting Lions.

A much needed change was the matching of uniforms which gave the squad the important "unified" look. An increase in conditioning such as aerobics, running, and intense practices contributed to the team's improvement.

The traditional Lions Growl proved to be a highlight for the cheerleaders. The dedication and hard work put into the dance routine, which was performed that night, paid off as the Mars Hill students complimented their performance. This high energy and explosive spirit carried over to the squad's task of getting the fans involved in supporting MHC during both the football and basketball games.

A favorite of the crowd, especially the kids, was Cosmo, the team's mascot. His comical personality and sneaky schemes always lifted spirits even when spirits were low. The combined spirit of the Mars Hill Cheerleaders and Cosmo always helped bring the Lions to victory.

The 1994 Lady Lions: Christie Nabors, Anna Roberts, Jackie Shelton, Sherry Brown, Amy Ross, Holli Steelman, Jan Johnson, Susie Hopson, Michelle Johnson, DeShawn Watkins, Sherrell Brown, Lena Barber, Shannon Curtis.

What do you want to bet that this is a 2-pointer?

Although Mars Hill did lose three quality starters off of the 1992-93 11-15 team, the return of the deadly inside-outside threat of Susie Hopson and Lena Barber had the Lady Lions looking to improve following a "rebuilding year."

Dribble, Shoot

Who is open for the ball?

The '93-'94 season began exceptionally well with the Lady Lions tied for first place in the South Atlantic Conference against Wingate and Presbyterian.

Hopson, Barber, and Michelle Johnson lead the Lady Lions out in front of the competition as the leading scorers for the team.

Every season is different for a team and within the season changes occur that reflect the strengths and weaknesses of the team. The Lady Lions played strong and hard and were contenders in the South Atlantic Conference for the title of #1.

UNCA tries to take on Matt Hurst. Forget it.

Coach Riggins was looking forward to the 1993-94 season, and who could blame the 8th-year coach for his eagerness? After all, the Lions were coming off a 16-10 campaign ('92-93) and returning the bulk of the team which produced that mark.

He felt, with three starters returning, that even better prospects for the '93-94 season were well within reach, and the rest of the South Atlantic Conference were disappointed to hear that the dynamic duo of Lamont Jones and Cedric Mansell were returning.

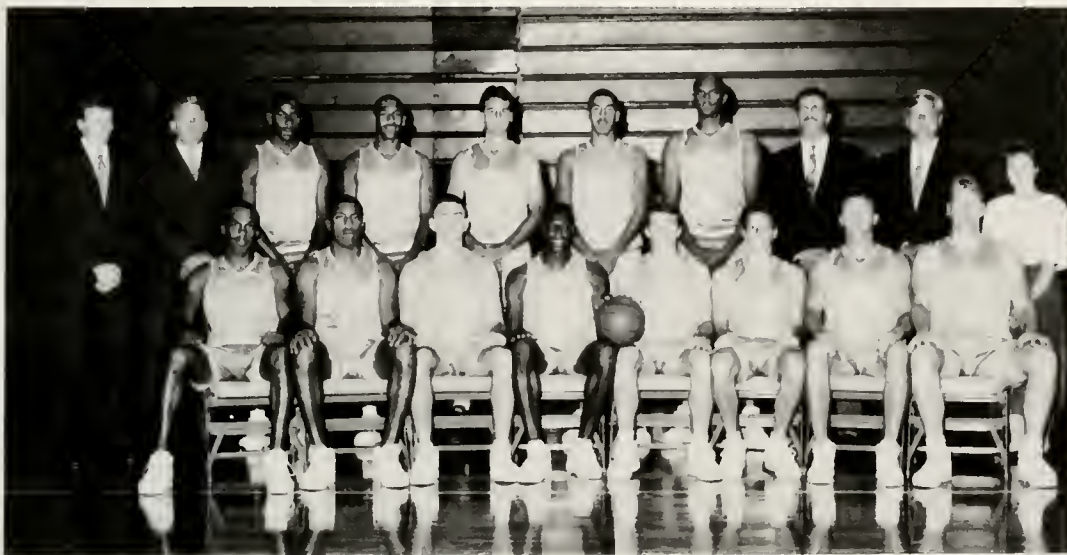

And what a season it was! Leading the conference from the start, they left a cruel trail of defeats to conference and non-conference rivals alike, winning the regular season SAC championship with a 22-4 record.

The theme of change may not have been needed over the last year's record, but the ups and downs of a long tradition of basketball at Mars Hill may well be heading toward a new tradition of only ups.

Cedric Mansell goes for the dunk. Way to go.

The 1994 softball season was one with a new breed of committed, enthusiastic players. Only 4 players returned from the previous year's 14-16 season, so the '94 squad's record was to be determined by how fast the newcomers developed into college players.

During the fall the team played 8 scrimmage games, and Coach Beth Alms was pleased with the talent of the freshmen.

The experience of the 2 seniors, Melanie Winters and Kim Ayscue, filled the other players with confidence

Building on Skill

needed to pull the squad together.

Winters had finished the '93 season as one of the top 10 in the nation in stolen bases. With a batting average just under .400, she was also the offensive leader of the team.

A lot of key seniors were graduated from the various schools, giving all teams the same amount of fire power, so the race for the SAC winner was close.

The '94 Lady Lion team had a lot of talent, and Coach Alms looked for them to improve on the 14-16 record of '93 with better defense and offense. In response, Mars Hill made a strong effort in the conference.

There goes a long throw to home plate.

Soaking up some welcome sunshine.

After last year's last-place finish in the conference the 1994 baseball team was looking to improve and make a name for itself in the SAC.

The team was led by Coach Joe Dodd, who had coaching experience from Maryville College and Warren Wilson College. He was assisted by Chris Smith and Clark Dodd. They hoped to make a name for baseball here at Mars Hill by turning the program around.

This year they had several key players returning: Benjie Frazier, Mark Emery, Bryan

Looking to Improve

Googins, Tracy Bracken, Billy Knight, and Sandro Valencia.

Recruiting had been good and there were a few players who impacted the team: Chico Kemp, Scott Haney, David Plough, Danny Cronin, Patrick Anderson, Jason Landreth and Todd Cline.

They played a schedule that gave them a chance of going into the conference with a good record.

A big highlight of the season was playing against Duke on March 10th and East Tennessee State on April 7th.

Excitement was high and the team hoped to finish high against tough baseball conference teams of Elon, Carson-Newman, and Catawba.

they have shared with the sports medicine staff, preparing them to meet the needs of the MHC athletes.

These students had many responsibilities such as preventing athletic injuries, caring for the athletes when they were injured, supervising treatments, and record keeping. Many hours were spent and a lot of hard work was done keeping the athletes in the physical and mental stability needed to perform at their very best. These dedicated sports medicine trainers were the ones who pulled them through.

Pre-season basketball promotion helped to increase team support during their season.

In every educational institution a variety of things change as it progresses and strives to improve standards. Mars Hill College is no different. As we witness the changing of the seasons it reminds us of the many changes that take place on our beautiful campus, such as the changing of faculty.

Fall of 1993, Mars Hill College, welcomed seven new faces as leaders, educators, and friends that support their colleagues and provide direction to their students. Jeff Andersen is a new instructor in the Dept. of Recreation, Jill Gilbert works as an interim assistant professor of education. An addition in the communications department is assistant professor Elizabeth Michel. There is also a new Spanish instructor, Ruth Sanchez. Three instructors have been added to the music department, Caroline Helton, visiting instructor of music; Denise Schmidt, instructor of music; and Joel Schultz, assistant professor of music/band director.

Every year for Convocation the teachers come dressed in their high honors.

You gave a person with a grin like that, matches?

The least read book on Campus.

"I know it's an honor, but thank goodness we only have to wear these robes twice a year."

Those science labs really let students gain hands on experience.

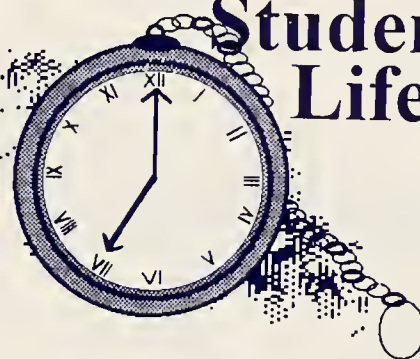

Taking time to relax, Jeff Townsend lounges outside of the cafeteria reading the newspaper.

My paper was due two hours ago, and I still can't get the ribbon to work right.

I wish my classes could be outdoors. Too bad I have class in 15 minutes.

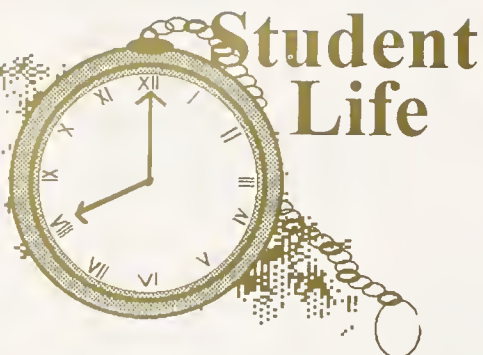

Student Life

In its third year at MHC, the Bonner Scholars Program is growing and working hard to "Change the World through Service." The scholarship is renewable for four years provided the student maintains a 2.5 GPA, does 10 hours of service work a week, turns in a journal pertaining to their work, and does a total of 240 hours of community service work over the summer break.

There are a variety of service work opportunities which can be adapted to the individual. Some of the scholars work as student tutors in the local schools, volunteers at the Asheville/Buncombe Community Christian Ministry, which is the homeless shelter in Asheville. A few students volunteer their time at the Western North Carolina Regional Child Abuse Center, where they are also trained to present programs in the schools. Still other students entertain the elderly at Madison Manor, babysit CEP single mothers' children.

The scholarship program also includes optional service work trips during breaks. This year a trip was planned to Charleston, West Virginia, over fall break and to St. Louis to help with the flood relief over Christmas break. Summer break means traveling to new places for many Bonner Scholars. Students have the option to do independent service work projects or to go on group service trips. Many students look forward to spending 16 days in Mexico planting trees in the rain forest this summer, while others have hopes of traveling to Europe to provide their services. No matter where these scholars travel or where they do service work, they are touching lives and are receiving hands-on educational experience that will last a lifetime.

These Bonner Scholars are helping in the creation of camping sites as part of their service work.

Sites such as these were seen by the Bonners last summer on their trip out west: Jackson Lake with the Grand Tetons in the background.

The Bonners at Mount Rushmore. Cindy Powers, Mistle Linkler, Will Ammons, Susan Long, Bryan Gravely, Jean Ploeg, Karen Gasperson, Sean Gross, Debra Whitley, Amy Webb, Brian Smith, Burgess Shucker.

Studying for the next days classes. This student spends some time in the library.

The Blue Lounge, what a place to catch up on class work.

The tangent of the derivatives of the angle. Oh, those problems in Calculus, we'll never forget them.

Typing is one of those classes that students are to help prepare them for the future.

Taking advantage of a beautiful day, this teacher teaches class in the amphitheater.

The last class really left this student with a lot of things to think about.

The faculty and staff of Mars Hill in 1947.

Student Life

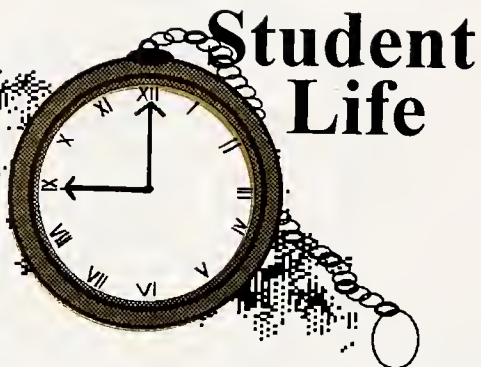

Organizations have always been an important part of student life at Mars Hill. In 1958 organizations at Mars Hill consisted of literary societies, honor clubs, interest clubs and others. As time went on new organizations were formed such as FCA, SGA, and the literary magazine, the Cadenza. By 1971 a number of greek organizations had been formed and in 1974 a co-ed fraternity was added to Greek society.

Here are some of the organizations that have played an important part in the lives of Mars Hill students.

1958 — Laurel, Hilltop, Nonpareil — Eauthalian, Clio — Philomathian, Honor Clubs — International Relations Club, Scriblerus Club, Business Club, French Club, Spanish Club, Germany Club, Logotha Club Outstanding Bible Students, Orpheon Club, Science Club, Forensics, Art Club, Home Economics Club, Nursing Club, Women's Student Council, Men's Student Council, Amateur Radio Club, Library Club, College Marshalla, Dramateers (3 Major productions a year).

1958 — Musical — College Choir, Band, Majorettes, the Campus Choir. Religious — BSU, Ministry/Conference Volunteers for Christ, Young Women's Auxillary, Brotherhood, Youth Temperance Council, Mission Council.

1962 — Music — Guild Student Group, Orchestra. Religious — Canterbury Club, Westminster Fellowship.

1964 — History Majors Club, SGA (Court and Senate Commission), College Choir, Concert Band, Stage Band, Majorettes, FCA, Drama Club. Interest Clubs — Veterans Club, Math Club, Society for the Advancement of Management, Student Education Association, Home Economics Club, International Club, Logothi Club, Social Services Club, International Relations Club, Marshalls, Scribulerus, Science Club, Business Club, Spanish Club.

Don't worry fair maiden, we will rescue you.

The Arabs are coming, the Arabs are coming.

The Mars Hill College Band was comprised of 46 members this year. Throughout the year they were seen performing at several football games, the homecoming parade, and at the Christmas Concert, among many other events.

One of the things that the band did this year was to perform at the homes of several retirees in the area. They also performed for some handicapped children. The idea for these performances was suggested by Dr. Joel Schultz, the band director.

Mars Hill College also has a Jazz Band, which contained sixteen members from the band. The Jazz Band was directed by Paul Babelay. They performed at the Christmas Concert this year. During the spring semester they began studio recordings.

The band would like to thank Dr. Schultz, Paul Babelay, and Ms. Denise Schmidt for their guidance, instruction and support.

Who's Who Among Stu

More than 1400 college and universities across the nation are represented in an elite listing of outstanding students entitled Who's Who Among Students in American Colleges and Universities. The directory cites students based on their academic achievements, service to the community, leadership in extracurricular activities, and potential for continued success.

Mars Hill is proud to have 39 of its own seniors in the 1994 edition of the prestigious publication.

CHANGES

Letter from the Editor

Changes, boy what a theme to have this year. Isn't it funny when you look back and realize that the things that you decide on the year before really do reflect the ideas of the current year. The credit for this year's theme must all go to Ed McNery. He came to me with several ideas for a theme right after the yearbook came out last year and Changes struck as a possibility. Well, after a lot of thought Changes really seemed to fit, and I hope that everyone likes it as much as I do.

Yearbook is definitely a hard job to do, and there were numerous times when I wasn't sure if I would meet the deadlines on time; but it is best to try and not get stressed and work slowly towards the goals. As always things have a way of working out given enough time.

I would really like to thank all of those people that helped me out through the year, putting in their extra time on Monday nights down in the Dungeon (bottom floor Student Union). A special thanks to Susan and Susie for all of the copy that you wrote for the book; what a lifesaver you were. Kevin, thank you for pictures again this year; too bad you also had a hectic schedule. Ed, thanks for the lovely captions and the addition of the radio; the office is so much nicer with music. Joy, you really helped a lot putting the class sections in order. Thanks to Steve and Amo for helping fill out the page envelopes. Chris Smith helped out a lot in the sports section by writing some of the copy. Sorry I was down there bugging you all the time for more copy, but thanks.

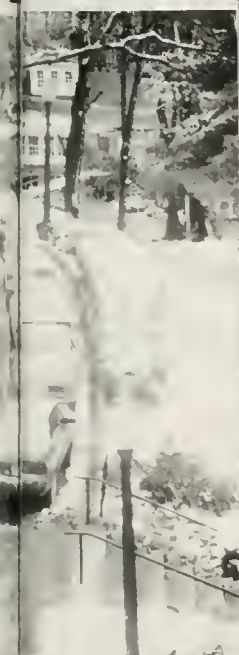

Thanks to Walter Smith, especially with the Organizations section, for his help when I wasn't sure of where I was going or what to do next. Thanks for taking the pictures of the organizations that showed up.

A special thanks goes out to all of my friends who put up with my constant state of stress Fall semester; you guys are wonderful.

Well here it is, the 1994 Laurel. I hope that you like the Changes.

The 1994 Laurel was printed by Herff Jones Yearbooks in Montgomery, AL. The cover was silkscreen printed. The body type is 12 pt., the captions, 8 pt. News Gothic. The text paper is 80 lb. bordeaux.

CHANGES. Who wasn't affected by something new and different this school year? Changes were around us all the time from the very first day we returned up to the time of graduation and beyond. We all learned something new whether it was academic or something about ourselves. Change is the only constant in our lives, and realizing this helps us lead our lives.

The architect's model of proposed remodeling of old college cafeteria into a new college library.

Snow?! The first snow was at Halloween this year.

Studying? Isn't that the reason we are here in the first place?

Smile for the camera, and how do you like the food?

Pittman Dining Hall

Friendship; what else can you say?

The new cafeteria was opened at the beginning of spring semester.

Look what happens if a freshman parks on women's hill.

Hello, Student Development Office . . .
